Early Summer 2022
Seasonal Favorites are Back! | Our Favorite Local U-Picks | New! Cherry Peach Soda Pop
Greetings from Glen Arbor!

Summer is the time of year when the usually sleepy towns and villages of Northern Michigan are transformed into bustling resort communities, as we welcome back those who wait all year to return to this little slice of heaven we call home. The transformation is so dramatic, in fact, that it feels like Leelanau County is promoted from its normal ‘under the radar’ status to the center of the universe practically overnight.

But why do people from all over the world choose to flock to our area each summer? Of course our majestic dunes, white-sand beaches, and cool lake breezes don’t hurt, but I think it’s more than that. I feel as if our reputation as the world’s cherry capital is a big part of the draw. People who spend most of the year in urban areas feel a need to connect with nature, with agriculture, with the land. There’s something about standing in a cherry orchard for the first time, popping a fresh-off-the-tree cherry into your mouth, that you don’t ever forget.

So here’s to a summer spent learning the three Rs of Northern Michigan: relaxation, rejuvenation, and reconnecting with nature. I hope to see you up north soon!

Ready, Set, Summer!

Preserving Memories of Grandma’s Jam

Nothing signals summer like crimson red stalks of rhubarb springing forth from the garden. Technically a vegetable, rhubarb is considered a fruit and can often be found growing wild in Michigan where it flourishes thanks to the ground freezing in the winter.

Cherry Republic graphic designer Brett Sanders has fond memories of his grandmother’s rhubarb patch in Kawkawlin, MI. “I remember picking rhubarb in my Grandma’s garden when I was a kid. She would put up endless jars of homemade preserves — rhubarb, strawberry rhubarb, and cherry rhubarb jam. Of course one flavor was clearly the best!”

A Marriage of Two Great Stone Fruits

We know that cherries are The Greatest Stone Fruit, but apricots are a close second. With a sweet-tart flavor that’s a cross between a peach and a plum, apricots make delicious jam — perfect for Hungarian kiffles (a/k/a kiflis), delicate Hungarian cookies made with cream cheese pastry and filled with fruit preserves.

“Food is the greatest memory of my youth,” shares Todd Gylulvasz, our productions manager. “My great grandmother and my aunts would make Apricot Kiflis for all of our family gatherings. They’re still my favorite Hungarian treat, and our Cherry Apricot Jam is perfect for making them!”

A few years ago, we got an email from Jerry VanStrien, a cycle-enthusiast on a mission. Jerry was about to embark on a cross-country bike trip from Kentucky to San Francisco to raise money to battle Multiple Sclerosis — and he was looking for some fuel for his team in the form of cherry love. Cherry Republic teamed up with Jerry and arranged to have care packages dropped at five spots along their TransAmerica bike route — in Kentucky, Illinois, Kansas, Colorado, and Utah. We sent an assortment of Hiker’s Mix, Montmorency Dried Cherries, and other fuel-packed snacks to help sustain the team along the way.

“These pouches fit nicely in our jerseys and are the perfect energy boost during our stops as we hydrate,” Jerry shared. “All the cyclists get a little giddy when the mail drop days come around to see what’s in those boxes. It’s not only been an energy boost, but on some occasions an emotional boost after a hard day of cycling.”
